Nonconformity

Recently, there have been several changes to federal income tax law. Arizona has not adopted these changes for 1996. Since Arizona uses federal income as the starting point for the Arizona return, you may have to adjust the federal income reportable on your 1996 Arizona return to reflect these differences.

1996 changes to federal law, which Arizona has not adopted, include changes to the following.

- Employer provided educational assistance benefits
- Exclusion for employee death benefits
- Deduction for the storage of product samples in your home
- Modification of punitive damages exclusion

For explanations of federal changes see Federal Publication 553, 1996 Highlights and Changes, which may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service. You may contact the department or your tax practitioner for assistance if your income is affected by these federal changes.

Are You Subject to Tax in Arizona?

A. Residency Status. A person is a resident of Arizona if that person's domicile is in Arizona. Domicile is the place where you have your permanent home. It is where you intend to return if you are living or working temporarily in another state or country.

For more information on determining residency for Arizona income tax purposes, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Procedure ITP 92-1. To get a copy of this procedure, call one of the help numbers listed on this page.

B. As an Arizona nonresident, you are subject to Arizona income tax on all income derived from Arizona sources. If you are in this state for a temporary or transitory purpose or did not live in Arizona but received income from sources within Arizona during 1996, you are subject to Arizona tax. Income includes wages, rental income, business income, the sale of Arizona real estate, interest and dividends having a taxable or business situs in this state, or any other income from an Arizona source.

NOTE: You must file a state return even if your employer withheld all or part of the tax.

C. Military Personnel. If you were an Arizona resident when you entered the military, you continue to be an Arizona resident regardless of where you are stationed. You continue to be an Arizona resident unless you establish a new domicile.

If you are an Arizona resident, you are subject to Arizona income tax on all of your income. This includes your military pay.

If you are a nonresident stationed in Arizona you are not subject to Arizona income tax on your military pay. If you earn other income in Arizona, that income is taxable by Arizona. Use Form 140NR, Nonresident Personal Income Tax Return, to report this income.

For more information, see Arizona Department of Revenue brochure, Pub 704, Taxpayers in the Military. To get a copy of this brochure, call one of the help numbers listed on this page.

D. Deceased Taxpayer. When a taxpayer dies during the year, the surviving spouse or personal representative may have to file a final return. Use the form the taxpayer would have used. Enter the word "deceased" after the decedent's name in the address section of the form. Also enter the date of death after the decedent's name. The surviving spouse may file a joint return with the deceased taxpayer. If you are filing a joint return, write "filing as surviving spouse" in the area for the deceased spouse's signature. Include the deceased taxpayer's income up to the date of death and your income for the entire year. If the department mailed you a booklet do not use the label.

If requesting a refund, complete Form 131, Claim for Refund on Behalf of Deceased Taxpayer. Attach this form to the front of your return. It may be necessary to file fiduciary or estate tax returns also. Call the Arizona Department of Revenue at (602) 542-4022 for details on filing a fiduciary or estate tax return.

E. American Indians. You must file an Arizona income tax return if you meet the Arizona filing requirements unless all the following apply to you.

1. You are an enrolled member of an Indian tribe.
2. You live on the reservation established for that tribe.
3. You earned all of your income on that reservation.

For more information, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Ruling ITR 96-4. To get a copy of this ruling, call one of the help numbers listed on this page.

F. Spouses of American Indians. If either 1 or 2 below apply to you, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Ruling ITR 96-4.

1. You are a non-Indian married to an Indian described in paragraph E above.
2. You are a non-enrolled Indian married to an Indian described in paragraph E above.

To get a copy of this ruling, call one of the help numbers listed on page 1.

G. Parents Electing To Claim Certain Unearned Income of Their Children on Their Federal Income Tax Return Under IRC 1(i)(7). When you include your child's unearned income in your federal adjusted gross income, you must include that same income in your Arizona taxable income. The child should not file an Arizona income tax return.

Do You Need To File a Return?

Your filing status and income determine if you must file an Arizona income tax return. You must file a return to get a refund of any Arizona income tax withheld.

Gross income is gross income as defined under the Internal Revenue Code, less that income Arizona law excludes from Arizona taxation.

You can find your Arizona adjusted gross income on line 22 of Arizona Form 140NR.

When Should You File?

Your 1996 tax return is due no later than midnight, April 15, 1997.

Filing Status and Income Chart

The following rules are for all Arizona taxpayers.

You must file if you are:	and your gross income is at least:	or your Arizona adjusted gross income is at least:
Single	$ 15,000	$ 5,500
Married filing jointly	$ 15,000	$ 11,000
Married filing separately	$ 15,000	$ 5,500
Unmarried head of household	$ 15,000	$ 5,500

File your return as soon as you can after January 1, but no later than April 15, 1997. To avoid penalties and interest, the U.S. Post Office must postmark your return by April 15, 1997.

You may request an extension if you know you will not be able to file on time. An extension does not extend the time to pay your income tax. Failure to pay at least 90 percent of the tax due by the original due date will result in a penalty. The department will charge you interest on any tax that you do not pay by April 15. The department will also charge you an extension underpayment penalty if you do not pay 90 percent of your tax by April 15. This penalty is one-half of one percent (.005) of the tax not paid for each 30 day period or fraction of a 30 day period. This penalty cannot exceed 25 percent of the unpaid tax.

To get a filing extension, you can either:

1. Apply for a state extension (Form 204). To request a filing extension for only your Arizona return, file Arizona Form 204 by April 15. See Form 204 for details.
2. Use your federal extension (Federal Form 4868 or 2688). Arizona will accept your federal extension for the same period. Attach a copy of the federal extension to the front of your return. The IRS must have approved the federal extension granted on federal Form 2688. However, if you must make a payment, you must use Arizona Form 204.

Attach a copy of your extension to the front of your return when you file.

Nonresident Aliens

Nonresident aliens having federal income tax returns due on June 15 must file Arizona tax returns by April 15.

To file an Arizona return at the same time the federal return is due, file for an extension by April 15.

You must pay at least 90 percent of your tax liability by April 15. Those filing for a federal four-month extension, must file an Arizona extension for both the four-month and two-month extensions. See Form 204 for extension filing details.

When you do not file your Arizona return or extension by April 15, the department may charge you interest and penalties. Late filing and late payment penalties and interest will apply to the unpaid tax liability.

Penalties and Interest

A. Late Filing Penalty. The late filing penalty is 5 percent of the tax found to be remaining due for each month or fraction of a month the return is late. This penalty cannot exceed 25 percent of the tax found to be remaining due.

B. Extension Underpayment Penalty. The department imposes this penalty if you do not pay 90 percent of the tax liability shown on your return filed under an extension by the return's original due date. The department also imposes this penalty if you do not attach the extension to your return when you file. The extension underpayment penalty is one-half of one percent (.005) of the tax not paid for each 30 day period or fraction of a 30 day period. The department imposes this penalty from the original due date of the return until you pay the tax. The extension underpayment penalty cannot exceed 25 percent of the unpaid tax.

C. Late Payment Penalty. The department imposes the late payment penalty if you do not pay the tax by the time prescribed for its payment. The late payment penalty is 10 percent of the tax not paid within the time prescribed for its payment.

NOTE: If you are subject to two or more of the above three penalties, the maximum combined penalty cannot exceed 25 percent.

D. Interest. The department charges interest on any tax not paid by the due date even if you have an extension. The department charges interest from the original due date to the date of payment. The Arizona rate of interest is the same as the federal rate.

Contact one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions for the current interest rate.

E. Estimated Penalty. The department imposes the underpayment of estimated tax penalty on any late payment or underpayment of a required installment of estimated tax. Refer to Arizona Form 221 for further details.

Do You Need To Make Estimated Payments in 1997?

You must make Arizona estimated income tax payments during 1997 if either of the following apply.

1. You reasonably expect your Arizona gross income will exceed $75,000 in 1997.
2. Your Arizona gross income in 1996 was greater than $75,000.

As a nonresident, your Arizona gross income is that part of your federal adjusted gross income derived from Arizona sources.

In projecting current Arizona gross income, you must use ordinary business care and prudence.

The department will charge you a penalty if you fail to make any required estimated payments. The department will also charge you interest on any late or underpaid estimated tax payment.

An individual who does not have to make Arizona estimated income tax payments may choose to make them.

For more information, see Arizona Forms 140ES and 221. Also see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Ruling ITR 92-1. To get a copy of this ruling, call one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.

How Do You Amend a Return?

To make a change in your return for 1996 or prior years, file an Arizona Form 140X, Individual Amended Return. Do not file a new return for the year you are correcting. Generally, you have four years to amend a return to claim a refund.

If the Internal Revenue Service changes your federal taxable income, you must file an Arizona Form 140X for that year. Attach a complete copy of the IRS agent's report. If there are any changes to your federal taxable income, you must amend your Arizona return within 90 days of the change.

Line-by-Line Instructions

Tips for Preparing Your Return:

- Complete your return using black ink.
- You must round dollar amounts to the nearest whole dollar. If 50 cents or more, round up to the next dollar. If less than 50 cents, round down.
- When asked to provide your own schedule, attach a separate sheet with your name and social security number at the top. Attach your own schedules to the back of your return.
- Complete your federal return before you start your Arizona return.
- Include your home telephone number and a daytime telephone number, if different.
- If filing a fiscal year return, fill in the period covered in the space provided at the top of the form.

Entering Your Name, Address, and Social Security Number

Lines 1, 2, and 3 -

If your booklet has a pre-addressed label on the cover, use that label if all the information is correct. Do not use the label if any information is incorrect.

If there is no correct pre-addressed label, print or type your name, address, and social security number in the space provided. If filing a joint return, enter both social security numbers in the same order as your first names. If you and your spouse have different last names, separate your last names with "and". Put them in the same order as your first names and social security numbers.

The department issues refunds under both first name initials and the last name listed first on the return. For a deceased taxpayer, see page 1 of these instructions.

Use your current home address. The department will send any refund or correspondence to that address.

NOTE: Make sure your social security number is correct and listed in the same order every year if filing jointly.

Make sure that every return, statement, or document that you file with the department has your social security number. If you pay someone to prepare your return, your preparer must also include a proper identification number where requested.

A paid preparer may use either of the following.

1. The paid preparer may use his or her social security number.
2. The paid preparer may use the federal employer identification number for the business.

Failing to include the proper numbers may subject you or your preparer to a penalty. Make sure that all of the required identification numbers are clear and correct. Your return may take longer to process if identification numbers are missing, incorrect, or unclear. If you are filing a joint return, enter your social security numbers in the same order every year.

If your name appears first on the return, make sure your social security number is the first number listed.

Determining Your Filing Status

The filing status used on your federal return may be different from that used on your Arizona return. Use this section to determine your correct filing status and check the appropriate box (4 through 7) on the front of Form 140NR.

Line 4 Box - Married Filing a Joint Return

You may use this filing status if married as of December 31, 1996. It does not matter whether or not you were living with your spouse. You may use this filing status if your spouse died during 1996 and you did not remarry in 1996. See "Deceased Taxpayer" section on page 1 for more information.

If you are married to an Arizona full year resident, you may file a joint return using the 140NR. For more information, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Ruling ITR 95-2. To get a copy of this ruling, call one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.

Line 5 Box - Unmarried Head of Household

NOTE: Changes to Arizona law may affect your filing status for 1996.

In most cases you may file as head of household on your Arizona return when you qualify as head of household on your federal return.

You cannot file as head of household on your Arizona return when you do not qualify as head of household on your federal return.

Important: While for the most part Arizona law is like federal law, Arizona law is not always the same as federal law. You cannot file as head of household on your Arizona return if you are married living apart from your spouse.

The head of household filing status is for unmarried individuals who provide a home for certain other persons. You may check the box on line 5 only if you were unmarried or legally separated under a court order as of December 31, 1996. You are unmarried if you have never been married or are divorced. For head of household purposes the department may treat you as unmarried if your spouse was a nonresident alien at any time during 1996. If filing as head of household and your spouse was a nonresident alien at any time during 1996, enter your spouse's name on the line next to Box 6. Also enter either your spouse's social security number or your spouse's IRS individual taxpayer identification number in the space provided on line 2.

To qualify as a head of household, either 1 or 2 below must apply.

1. You paid over half the cost of keeping up a home that was the main home for all of 1996 of your parent if you can claim that parent as a dependent on your federal return. Your parent did not have to live with you in your home.
2. You paid over half the cost of keeping up a home in which you lived and in which one of the following also lived for more than half of the year. (If half or less, see "Exception" later.)
 - Your unmarried child, adopted child, grandchild, great-grandchild, etc., or stepchild. This child does not have to be your dependent. In this case, enter the child's name in the space provided on the line next to the box on line 5. If you do not enter the name, the department may disallow your head of household status.
 - Your married child, adopted child, grandchild, great-grandchild, etc., or stepchild. In most cases you must be able to claim this child as a dependent on your federal return. This child does not have to be your dependent if the child's other parent claims him or her as a dependent under the rules for "Children of Divorced or Separated Parents." You can find these rules in the instructions for line 10. Enter the child's name on the line next to the box on line 5. If you do not enter the name, the department may disallow your head of household status.
 - Your foster child if you can claim that child as a dependent on your federal return.

- Any other relative you can claim as a dependent on your federal return.

NOTE: You cannot file as head of household if you claim the dependent exemption under the rules for a person supported by two or more taxpayers. You can find these rules in the instructions for line 10.

Keeping up a Home

To find out about the cost of keeping up a home, see IRS publication 501.

If you used payments you received under the Aid to Families With Dependent Children (AFDC) program or other public assistance programs to pay part of the cost of keeping up your home, you cannot count them as money you paid. You must include them in the total cost of keeping up your home to figure if you paid over half of the cost.

Exception

You can count temporary absences such as for school, vacation, or medical care as time lived in your home. If the person for whom you kept up a home was born or died in 1996, you may still file as head of household as long as the home was that person's main home for the part of the year he or she was alive.

Check the line 5 box and enter your dependent's name in the space provided.

Line 6 Box - Married Filing Separately

Use this filing status if married on December 31, 1996, and filing a separate Arizona return.

Check the line 6 box and enter your spouse's name in the space provided. Also enter your spouse's social security number in the space provided on line 2.

Arizona is a community property state. Separate Arizona income tax returns must reflect one-half of the community income taxable to Arizona plus any separate income taxable to Arizona.

You must account for community deductions and credits on the same basis as community income. Both filers must either itemize or not itemize. One may not claim a standard deduction while the other itemizes deductions. If you and your spouse support a dependent child from community income, either you or your spouse may claim the dependent. Both of you cannot claim the same dependent on both returns.

If you file a separate Arizona income tax return, your return must reflect all of the following.

1. One-half of the total community income derived from Arizona sources.
2. Any separate income derived from Arizona sources.

Line 7 Box - Single

Use this filing status if unmarried or legally separated on December 31, 1996, and you cannot use head of household. Legally separated means under a decree of divorce or of separate maintenance.

Totaling Your Exemptions

Write the number of exemptions you are claiming in boxes 8, 9, and 10. Do not put a checkmark. You may lose the exemption if you put a checkmark in these boxes. You may lose the dependent exemption if you omit names, relationships, and social security numbers on page 2, Part A.

Line 8 Box - Age 65 or Over

Write "1" in box 8 if you or your spouse were 65 or older in 1996. Write "2" in box 8 if both you and your spouse were 65 or older in 1996.

Line 9 Box - Blind

Write "1" in box 9 if you or your spouse are totally or legally blind. Write "2" in box 9 if both you and your spouse are totally or legally blind. To qualify as legally blind, you must attach a physician's letter stating one of the following.

1. Your vision is 20/200 or poorer with corrective lenses.
2. Your field of vision is 20 degrees or less.

Line 10 Box - Dependents

You must complete Part A on page 2 of your return before you can total your dependent exemptions.

NOTE: Changes to the meaning of the term "dependent" may affect you. The Arizona meaning of this term is now, for the most part, the same as the federal meaning. A person that is a dependent on your federal return will now be a dependent on your Arizona return. You may now claim some people that did not qualify as a dependent under former Arizona law. For example, you may now claim a foster child or certain other people that lived in your home for the entire year even if not related.

Important: Arizona law is not always the same as federal law. In some cases, a person may be a dependent on your Arizona return, but not on your federal return.

1. A person's gross income will not affect whether or not you can claim that person as a dependent. A person who has income in excess of the federal personal exemption may still be a dependent.
2. A person's filing status will not affect whether or not you can claim that person as a dependent. A person who files a joint return with his or her spouse may still be a dependent.

If you meet the support requirement, you may claim any of the following as a dependent:

- Your child, stepchild, adopted child;
- A child who lived in your home as a family member if placed with you by an authorized placement agency for legal adoption;
- A foster child (any child who lived in your home as a family member for the whole year);
- Your grandchild, great-grandchild, etc.;
- Your son-in-law, daughter-in-law;
- Your parent, stepparent, parent-in-law;

- Your grandparent, great-grandparent, etc.;
- Your brother, sister, half brother, half sister, stepbrother, stepsister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law;
- If related by blood, your aunt, uncle, nephew, niece;
- A person who lived in your home as a family member for the entire year if your relationship with that person was not in violation of the law.

NOTE: You can take an exemption for each of your dependents who was alive during some part of 1996. This includes a baby born in 1996 or a person who died in 1996. Also, the department does not treat any relationships established by marriage as ended by divorce or death. For example, a widower may continue to claim his deceased wife's father (his father-in-law) as a dependent if he meets all of the other requirements.

You cannot take the following as dependents:

- Yourself or your spouse;
- A citizen of any country other than Canada and Mexico who does not live in the U.S., unless that citizen is your adopted child who lived with you all year in a foreign country.

Support Requirement

To claim a person as a dependent, you must have provided over half that person's total support in 1996. If you file a joint return, support can come from either you or your spouse. If you remarried, the department treats the support provided by your new spouse as support coming from you. In some cases, the department may treat taxpayers that provided less than half of a person's support as having provided more than half. See "Children of Divorced or Separated Parents." Also see "Person Supported by Two or More Taxpayers."

Support includes food, a place to live, clothing, medical and dental care, and education. Support also includes items such as a car and furniture, but only if they are for the person's own use or benefit. Figure the cost of a place to live at its fair rental value. Use the actual cost for any other item.

When figuring support, include money the person used for his or her own support, even if this money was not taxable.

Examples of such items you must include are gifts, savings, social security, and welfare benefits. You must also include any other public assistance payments. The department does not treat this support as coming from you.

Do not include any of the following in total support.

- Income tax, social security and Medicare tax
- Life insurance premiums
- Scholarship grants
- Funeral expenses

For special rules that apply to a foster child, see IRS publication 501.

Children of Divorced or Separated Parents

Divorced or separated parents must use special rules to decide if they meet the support requirement for their children. Parents who lived apart from each other during the last 6 months of the year must also use these rules, even if they do not have a separation agreement.

For these rules, a custodial parent is the parent who had custody of the child for most of the year. A noncustodial parent is the parent who had custody for the shorter period of time or who did not have custody at all. See IRS publication 501 for the definition of custody.

For the most part the department treats the custodial parent as providing over half of the child's total support. This means that, for the most part, the custodial parent can claim the child as a dependent.

In some cases the department treats the noncustodial parent as providing over half of the child's support. In these cases, the noncustodial parent can claim the child as a dependent. The noncustodial parent can claim the dependent when both parents together paid over half of the child's support and one of the following applies.

1. The custodial parent agrees not to claim the child as a dependent for federal purposes for 1996 by signing federal Form 8332 or a similar statement.
2. Your divorce decree or written separation agreement went into effect after 1984 and it states that you (the noncustodial parent) can claim the child as a dependent without regard to any condition.
3. Your divorce decree or written separation agreement went into effect before 1985 and it states that you (the noncustodial parent) can claim the child as a dependent. In this case, you must have given at least $600 for the child's support in 1996.

Person Supported by Two or More Taxpayers

You must use special rules to decide if you meet the support requirement if two or more taxpayers support a person. Even if you did not pay over half of a person's support, you may still claim that person as a dependent if all of the following applies.

1. You and one or more other taxpayer(s) together paid over half of the person's support.
2. You paid over 10 percent of that person's support.
3. No one alone paid over half of that person's support.
4. You can claim this person as a dependent on your federal return because each eligible taxpayer who paid over 10 percent of the person's support completed federal Form 2120.

An eligible taxpayer is someone who could have claimed the person as a dependent except that he or she did not pay over half that person's support.

Special Arizona Rules for Dependents Age 65 or Over

You may also be able to claim a person who is age 65 or over as a dependent. This person may qualify as your dependent even if not related. A person who is age 65 or over will qualify as a dependent on your Arizona return if any of the following apply.

1. In 1996, you paid more than one-fourth of the cost of keeping this person in an Arizona nursing or licensed supervisory care home. Your cost must be more than $800.
2. In 1996, you paid more than $800 for either Arizona home health care or other medical costs for the person.

Completing Line(s) A1

Enter the following on line(s) A1.

1. The dependent's name.
2. The dependent's relationship to you.
3. The dependent's social security number.
4. The number of months the dependent lived in your home during 1996.

You may lose the exemption if you do not furnish this information.

Line A2 - Total Dependents

Enter the total number of persons listed on line(s) A1. Enter the same number onto the front of the return in box 10.

Line A3 - Persons You Cannot Take as Dependents on Your Federal Return

Enter the names of the dependents listed on line(s) A1 that you cannot take as a dependent on your federal return if any of the following apply.

1. Your dependent's gross income for 1996 was more than the 1996 federal personal exemption amount.
2. Your dependent filed a joint federal return with his or her spouse.
3. You are claiming the person as a dependent under the special Arizona rules for dependents age 65 or over.

Reporting Your Residency Status

Check the appropriate box (11 through 13). Check only one box.

Line 11 Box - Nonresident

Check box 11 if you were not an Arizona resident during 1996 and were not on active military duty in Arizona.

Line 12 Box - Nonresident Active Military

Check box 12 if you were a nonresident on active military assignment in Arizona in 1996.

Line 13 Box - Composite Return

Check box 13 if this is a composite return being filed by one of the following.

1. A partnership filing on behalf of its nonresident partners.
2. An S corporation filing on behalf of its nonresident shareholders.

For information on filing an Arizona nonresident composite income tax return, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Ruling ITR 93-14. To get a copy of this ruling, call one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.

Determining Arizona Income

Now complete Parts B, C, and D on page 2 of the return.

Use Part B to determine what portion of your total income is taxable by Arizona.

NOTE: If you are unable to determine the proper line to use, please contact one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.

FEDERAL Column

Enter the actual amounts shown on your 1996 federal income tax return in the FEDERAL column. Complete lines B4 through B14. Line B14 should equal the federal adjusted gross income shown on your 1996 federal return Form 1040, Form 1040A, or Form 1040EZ.

ARIZONA Column

Enter that portion of your federal income received from Arizona sources in the ARIZONA column. Such income includes wages earned in Arizona, Arizona rental and business income, and gains on the sale of Arizona property.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 limits the amount of losses that you may deduct from passive activities. A passive activity is one that involves the conduct of any trade or business in which the taxpayer does not materially participate.

As a nonresident, your Arizona gross income may include some of these losses. You may consider only those passive losses that arose from Arizona sources. Your 1996 Arizona gross income can include only Arizona source losses you used on your 1996 federal return.

The following line-by-line instructions apply to the ARIZONA column.

Line B4 - Wages, Salaries, Tips, etc.

Enter all amounts received from Arizona employers or while you were in Arizona.

NOTE: Do not include active military pay.

Line B5 - Interest

If you have an Arizona business, enter only interest (including U.S. Government interest) you earned on accounts pledged as collateral. Do not include any other interest income even if it was earned in Arizona banks.

If any interest is from a partnership or S corporation, enter your distributive share of the interest income derived from Arizona sources.

Line B6 - Dividends

If you have an Arizona business, enter only those dividends earned on stocks pledged as collateral, including dividends from small business corporations. Do not include any other dividend income.

If dividends are from a partnership or S corporation, enter your distributive share of the dividend income derived from Arizona sources.

Line B7 - Arizona Income Tax Refunds

Enter the amount of Arizona income tax refunds received in 1996 that you included in your federal adjusted gross income.

Line B8 - Business Income or (Loss)

Enter income or (loss) from Arizona businesses.

Line B9 - Gains or (Losses)

Enter gains or (losses) on sales of Arizona property.

Line B10 - Rents, etc.

Net Operating Losses

Arizona does not have specific net operating loss provisions for individual taxpayers. Arizona conforms to the federal net operating loss provisions, including the carryback provisions.

As an Arizona nonresident, you may have had a loss from prior year Arizona business operations. However, the loss cannot offset this year's income unless the loss is a net operating loss for federal purposes. You can include the loss deduction in your Arizona gross income only to the extent included in your federal adjusted gross income. You cannot include any amount of that net operating loss which has already been deducted for Arizona purposes.

Enter the amount of net operating loss deduction included in your federal adjusted gross income that was derived from Arizona sources. Do not include any amount of the loss that has already been deducted for Arizona purposes.

For information on deducting a net operating loss carryback, see Arizona Department of Revenue Income Tax Procedure ITP 94-1. To get a copy of this procedure, call one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.

Arizona statutes prohibit a taxpayer from deducting items more than once. However, under the operation of former Arizona law (1989 and prior), you could deduct certain items in greater amounts for Arizona purposes than federal purposes. Investment interest and passive activity losses were such items. In some cases, you could have deducted such amounts in their entirety on the Arizona return. For federal purposes, the deduction for these items was limited, with the unused portions being carried forward and deducted in future years. Your Arizona return may include these previously deducted items because of the difference between the federal and former Arizona treatment. If your Arizona taxable income includes items previously deducted for Arizona purposes, you must add such amounts to your Arizona gross income.

Line 14 - Federal Adjusted Gross Income

Line 15 - Arizona Income

Line 19 - Subtractions From Income

Enter the amount from page 2, line D30, of your return.

Line 20 - Elective Subtraction of Federal Retirement Contributions

This line applies only to individuals who were civilian employees of the United States Government in Arizona during 1996. The Arizona Court of Appeals ruled that the Arizona statute which effectively taxes federal employees' contributions to federal retirement plans violates the doctrine of intergovernmental tax immunity. Both the plaintiffs and the state have filed requests for reconsideration of the case with the Arizona Court of Appeals. Therefore, the issue is not yet settled.

Line 20 is provided to alert you to a remedy available to you under Arizona law. On your 1996 return, you have two options if you had contributions made for income earned in Arizona.

Option #1

You may subtract the amount of contributions to your retirement plan that was withheld from your wages paid by the federal government. Enter on line 20 the amount of such contributions included in your 1996 Arizona income. If you choose this option and the courts ultimately decide that it is legal for the State of Arizona to tax your retirement contributions, you will owe additional tax and accrued interest. (Also, see Protective Claim for Refund below.)

Option #2

You may choose to ignore line 20. You may instead file the protective claim form. This form is in the front of this instruction booklet. Under this option you will pay tax on your contributions to the federal retirement plan. You will also protect your rights to a credit or refund of this tax if the courts ultimately decide that is appropriate. The state will pay interest in this event.

Protective Claim for Refund

You can find this form in the front of this instruction booklet. You can find this form at the bottom of the page titled Notice to Current and Former Federal Civilian Employees. If you were a civilian employee of the United States government at any time during the years 1992 through 1996, you should complete this claim form. Submitting this claim form will protect your rights to tax relief for the years you were so employed. If you choose option #2 for 1996, you should also include 1996 in your claim. Claims for 1992 must be postmarked by April 15, 1997, to be valid. If you previously filed a protective claim for 1990 through 1995, only include 1996 on the claim form filed for 1996.

Please do not include the protective claim with your 1996 income tax return. Mail the claim form separately to the address indicated to ensure proper handling.

Figuring Your Arizona Tax

Line 23 - Itemized or Standard Deductions

purposes are those itemized deductions that are allowable under the Internal Revenue Code. As an Arizona nonresident, you must prorate these deductions by the percentage which your Arizona gross income is of your federal adjusted gross income.

Married taxpayers receive only one personal exemption of $4,200 (prior to prorating). When married taxpayers file separate Arizona returns, the personal exemption may be taken by either taxpayer or divided between them. If one spouse qualifies to file as head of household because the other spouse was a nonresident alien for federal income tax purposes at any time during 1996, the personal exemption may be taken by either spouse or divided between them.

If you are married filing a separate return or married to a nonresident alien and filing as head of household, you may, prior to prorating, claim a personal exemption of only $2,100 (one-half of the total $4,200) unless you and your spouse complete Form 202 electing a different allocation. Complete Form 202 if either of the following applies.

1. You are married filing a separate return and, prior to prorating, you are claiming a personal exemption of more than $2,100.
2. You are filing as head of household and you are married to a person who was a nonresident alien for federal income tax purposes at any time during 1996 and, prior to prorating, you are claiming a personal exemption of more than $2,100.

The spouse who is claiming more than $2,100 of personal exemption must attach the original Form 202 to his or her Arizona income tax return. The spouse who is claiming less than $2,100 of personal exemption must attach a copy of the completed Form 202 to his or her Arizona income tax return.

Line 48 - Political Party

Check the box for the political party to which you wish to give. Select only one party. If you do not select a political party, the department will return the amount on line 47.

Line 49 - Estimated Payment Penalty and Interest

You must have made Arizona estimated income tax payments during 1996 if you meet either of the following.

1. You reasonably expected your Arizona gross income to exceed $75,000 in 1996.
2. Your Arizona gross income in 1995 was greater than $75,000.

In projecting current Arizona gross income, you must use ordinary business care and prudence.

If you were unable to project your 1996 Arizona gross income, you may request a waiver from the requirement to make estimated payments. The department may grant a waiver for one or more payment periods. You must request a waiver in writing. If requesting a waiver, attach your request to your return when you file. Your request must explain why you could not reasonably project your Arizona gross income for one or more payment periods during 1996.

The department may grant a waiver only if all of the following apply.

1. Your Arizona gross income in the preceding taxable year was less than $75,000.

2. Using ordinary business care and prudence, you were unable to reasonably project your 1996 Arizona gross income.

You must attach Form 221 and your waiver request to your return.

If you report as a farmer or fisherman for federal purposes, you were not required to make estimated payments during 1996 if the following apply.

1. You are a calendar year filer. You file your Arizona return by March 3, 1997. You pay in full the amount stated on your return as payable.
2. You are a fiscal year filer. You file your Arizona return by the first day of the third month after the end of your fiscal year. You pay in full the amount stated on your return as payable.

If the above applies, check box 2 on line 50 and do not complete Form 221.

An individual who fails to make the required estimated payments is subject to penalty and interest on any estimated tax payment that is late or underpaid.

Complete and attach Form 221, Underpayment of Estimated Tax by Individuals, to determine if any penalty and interest are due. Enter total penalty and interest from Form 221.

Line 50 -

1. You checked the box on line 1 of Form 221.
2. You completed the annualized income worksheet on Form 221.
3. You elected to be treated as a nonresident alien on your federal income tax return. You made three estimated payment installments. Your first installment equaled 50 percent of the total of all of your required installments.

Box 2 - If you are an individual who for federal purposes reports as a farmer or fisherman, check box 2.

Box 3 - If you completed and attached Form 221, check box 3.

Line 51 - Individual Medical Savings Account Withdrawal Penalty

Withdrawals made from your individual medical savings account on any day other than the last business day of the year are subject to a ten percent penalty on the amount withdrawn. This penalty is not subject to abatement. You must remit this penalty with your income tax return filed for the year in which the withdrawal was made.

Multiply the amount of your withdrawal subject to penalty by 10 percent. Enter the result here.

The following withdrawals are not subject to the penalty.

1. Withdrawals made from your individual medical savings account on the last business day of the tax year.
2. Transfers or distributions you received from your spouse or former spouse under the terms of a legal separation or dissolution of marriage.
3. Your former employer closed your account and mailed you a check for the amount in the account.

NOTE: Qualified medical payments or qualified reimbursements made by the plan are not withdrawals. These amounts are not subject to the penalty.

Figuring Your Refund or Tax DueLine 53 - Refund

Subtract line 52 from line 42. Enter your refund on line 53 and skip line 54.

If you owe money to any state agency and certain federal agencies, your refund may go to pay some of the debt. If so, the department will let you know by letter.

Tax Tip: If you change your address before you get your refund, let the department know. Write to: Refund Desk, Arizona Department of Revenue, 1600 W Monroe, Phoenix AZ 85007. Include your social security number in your letter.

Line 54 - Amount Owed

Add lines 39 and 52. Enter the amount you owe on line 54.

The department cannot accept checks or money orders in foreign currency. You must make payment in U.S. dollars.

Sign Your Return

You must sign your return. If married filing a joint return, both you and your spouse must sign even if only one had income. The department cannot send a refund check without proper signatures on the return.

Filing Your Return

Before you mail your return, make a copy of your return. Also make a copy of any schedules that you are sending in with your return. Keep the copies for your records. Be sure that you file the original and not a copy.

To mail your return, use the envelope that came in your booklet. If it is missing, send the return to: Arizona Department of Revenue, PO Box 29002, Phoenix AZ 85038-9002.

Make sure you put enough postage on the envelope.

The U.S. Post Office must postmark your return or extension request by midnight April 15. A postage meter postmark will not qualify as a timely postmark. Only a postmark from the U.S. Post Office will qualify.

How Long To Keep Your Return

Keep your records as long as they are important for any Arizona tax law. Keep all records that support your income and deductions for a tax year until the period of limitations expires for the return for that tax year. A period of limitations is the limited time after which no legal action can be brought. Usually, this is four years from the date the return was due or filed.

In some cases, the limitation period is longer than four years. The period is six years from when you file a return if you under report the income shown on that return by more than 25 percent. The department can bring an action at any time if a return is false or fraudulent, or you do not file a return.

Keep records that establish the basis of property for a period longer than four years. Also keep net operating loss records back to the date you incurred the loss. To find out more about what records you should keep, get federal Publication 552.

When To Expect Your Refund

Expect your refund in the mail within 8 weeks of the date you filed. If you have not received your refund by that time, contact one of the help numbers listed on page 1 of these instructions.
